PROTECTING

Mr. Funk,

The Senior year began bright and new. We as a class were anticipating a great year. Days turned into weeks and weeks into months; with each day, each week, and each month new challenges and deadlines were set before us. The future was dark, plans seemed futile and everyone was ready to give up. Then you stepped in to guide us and to help us see the way. You reminded us of the bright lights of a city, which shine their light even in the darkest night, amidst the fiercest storm to guide the weary person home. We couldn't see our way through to the end, but with your great time saving plans a new dawning shone on our dark days. You showed such a keen and intense interest in all of our plans and helped us improve them. Most of all you played a great part in establishing our faith in Christ more deeply.

To you, Mr. Funk, as a token of thanks, we dedicate the '72 Echo.

Principal's Message

In this book we look to see and yet we hear, for these pictures and words are the "Echo" of this school year's events and happenings. We can no longer "hear" the original sounds, but these pages carry their echo.

What may we hear? The Bible says, "So teach us to number our days that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom." This passage implies that the happenings of each day may be counted (numbered) as opportunities, and as such, challenge our wisdom. You seniors have found that your days at Clinton Christian could be filled with challenges calling for wise decisions. May you learn even more that "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom". Keep on building your life upon true wisdom.

And now, Lord, for all of us who read and hear this "Echo", bestow upon us, too, that quality of knowing the days and times which we may possess with Your divine wisdom.

Mr. Funk

CLASS POEM

It Takes the Storm to Prove the Real Shelter

As we've traveled life's highway in years gone by,
In all kinds of weather we determined to try;
But often as gray clouds appeared, we would sigh.
It takes the storm to prove the real shelter!

Many days of our traveling all seemed to be well,
But soon we were smitten and had many fears to quell.
Oh! the need of a shelter when things go pell-mell.
For it takes the storm to prove the real shelter.

At times gloom settled upon us and cast us off course;
We hopelessly bottled a wierd, unseen force.
How soon the sun shone as we looked to our Scource!
It takes the storm to prove the real shelter.

But perpetual fair skies just wouldn't be the norm,
Soon after rainbow colors, dark clouds may form;
We look to the Master -- our Shelter from the storm.
For it takes the storm to prove the real Shelter!

So on and on we journey with Christ by our side,
Through sun and stormy weather, whatever betide,
Under His wings we shelter -- in Him we abide.
Yes, it takes the storm to prove the real shelter!

PROJECT COMPASSION

Pennies spilling down the gym floor in change rolls, muddy cars to be washed and waxed, aroma of freshly made baked goods, buzzing wood and slivers, cleaning rags and wrinkled hands: These all shaped the picture of our project for Haitian children in the tuberculosis hospital (under the direction of Pastor Napo).

Our sweat, blood, and tears plus donations were not all scum. We shot the bottom out of the basket coming up with $4600. By work and fun we were able to make medicine available for the children at the hospital.

TWENTY MINUTES FOR THOUGHT

Some days people feel alive, smiling, ready to tackle life, while on other days a loneliness and over-sensitivity enshroudes them. Complaints one day, compliments the next - that's the way people are.

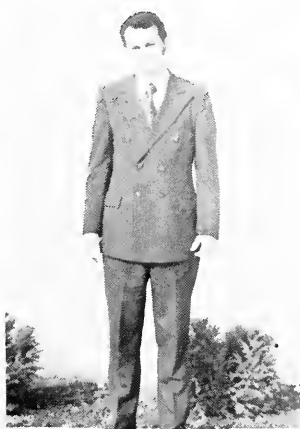

People at CCH are no different. As many moods as there are persons are present in chapel every day. Speakers challenge thinking habits, films picture graphic messages, student participation sparks sharing. The listener, if he chooses, gradually receives new incentive to become better acquainted with God and reaches out to the desire of becoming a more complete person.
